En los casos de debilidad, ella es incomparable, al paso que cura radicalmente las Indigestiones, y los desordenes generales del Higado, del Estomago, y de los Intestinos, restableciendose, como por encanto, el vigor y la salud normal, dichas Pildoras remueven asimismo las dolencias que suelen affijir a las Mugeres al llegar estas a la edad critica.

Unguento Holloway
Este incomparable Balsamo sana los Males de Piernas y de Pecho, las Llagas Antiguas, y aun esas Ulceras cuyo orijen no conviene mencionar en un anuncio publico. Para todas las Erupciones cutaneas no hay remedio igual al Unguento Holloway, al que millares deben la salvacion tanto de sus Brazos y Piernas como de su existencia.

Antes de comprar, examinese con mucha cautela el Rotulo en el Bote o la Caja, para cerciorarse si esta la direccion de 533, Oxford Street, London, pues si no esta, entonces se trata de perpetrar un descarado engaño.

☞ Se invitan al as personas que sean defraudadas por los vendedores que expenden 'Las Pildoras y el Unguento de Holloway' falsificados para que se sirvan al comunicarme los pormenores, e inmediatamente hare formalizar procesos legales contra los Ofensores, y recompensare liberalmente a los Delatores por el trabaja que se tomen, comprometiendome a que no haya trascendencia de sus nombres.

Muy importante para el Publico.
Poseido de la mayor ansiedad, y con el debido respecto al Publico, apelo muy encarecidamente a toda clase de personas, para que se dignen prestarme su apoyo, dando a conocer como tales las malas y sus peligrosas falsificaciones de mis medicinas, hechas principalmente en Nueva York, de que tengan conocimiento.

Especuladores nada escrupulosos adquieren esta broza a un precio sumamente bajo, y la venden como si fuera mis genuinas pildoras y ungüento, logrando con esto reprobado trafico una enorme ganancia.

Ninguno de los expresados medicamentos son genuinos, si no llevan en el rotulo de cada bote y caja la inscripcion siguiente: Holloway's Pills and Ointment, 533, Oxford Street, London, y el sello del Gobierno Britanico, con las palabras Holloway's Pills and Ointment, grabadas en el.

Las personas que tengan la bondad de informar de algun traficante que venda las enunciadas medicinas falsas, seran muy bien remuneradas, y nunca, ni en circunstancia alguna, se publicaran sus nombres.

Cable supposed to be momentarily interrupted north of Rio Janeyro.

Valparaiso 27th, 5 p.m.

A disastrous explosion has taken place in the military arsenal of this city.

Half of the edifice is ruined. The number of killed are over twenty.

The explosion was originated in the bomb-shell department.

THE TAY CATASTROPHE.

For completeness there is nothing recorded to equal this disaster; details there are none. The English papers are filled, column upon column, but all their information is mere accessories. Where is the train? In less time than it takes to write these lines, it perished. A disaster so magnificent awes the mind. Death more instantaneous no science could invent. In this appalling accident we have the simple fact that the train entered the bridge and has never since been seen. There was no shouting, no explosion; a few sparks shot up to Heaven, and the gurgling waters of the Tay closed over the train, engine, coaches, guards and passengers. Struggle there was none; death more immediate it is not given to us to imagine. We conjecture that the train was blown over with the girders of the doomed bridge, 135 feet into the waters beneath, but there is no proof. We have the wrecked girders sticking over the flood-tide to show us where the remains of the bridge lie, but of the train there is not a vestige left, save a wretched sample of silk addressed to a mercer in the Fulham Road, London. Could anything be more awful? A miserable silk shred to prove that here was the train, here ninety human beings perished, here a great locomotive with its passengers and cars 'jumped the life to come'—a patch of silk the sole tombstone to mark the grave and prove that such things were.

The divers brought to the scene next morning explore the bottom of the Forth, but nothing of the train is to be found. It may be truly said, as our London colleague remarks, that "Man makes a death which Nature never made;" and yet we assume to ourselves a power which we have never held and never will hold, and grand scientific triumphs which but a mere gust of wind ridicules. The Tay Bridge is the largest railway bridge in the world. The Tay catastrophe is the most awful the world ever witnessed—awful, not so much from its suddenness, nor from the numbers of its victims, but from its completeness. The train came, went, was seen, and is no more. The hollow mockery of identifying such a disaster by a Fulham Road silk rag drives the iron deeper into the souls of those who contemplate this catastrophe from proper stand-points and with proper lights. With speechless wonder one considers how a mere gust of wind can overthrow the greatest engineering triumph of man—human foresight is impotent; all that art has done, all that science has achieved were embodied in that wondrous bridge, which we in our pride and in our ignorance considered the very monument of our progress and—shall we say it?—our civilization. Materialists will say, another bolt, another girder, another ton of iron would have saved it, and the next bridge will be heavier and stronger; but so also may be the next gale.

The catastrophe, if it proves anything, proves that Nature has conquered Science, and that we can erect nothing that will at all times resist the elements. It took six long years to construct this Tay Bridge which in two minutes was tumbled like a pack of cards. Its total cost was £350,000, and some idea of its imaginative solidity may be derived from the fact that it absorbed more than 7,000 tons of iron, 87,000 cubic feet of timber, 15,000 casks of cement and ten millions of bricks. All the high girders in the centre of the bridge, occupying a total length of three thousand feet, have been swept away; and it was in this portion of the bridge that the accident is supposed to have occurred.

We give in another column what is termed the statement of an eye witness, but it amounts to little. None witnessed the disaster, and none have survived to tell the tale. We may indulge in speculations as to the force of the storm, the square inch pressure of the wind upon the side of the span where the train entered. Scientists will say that the gale was the greatest ever felt, but we have no evidence in other parts of any such extraordinary violence. The pressure of 72 lbs. on the square foot gives the wind a velocity of 120 miles an hour, the greatest ever known to the world: yet the sages who measure the bridge, wind and train, state that to topple it over required a force of 100 lb. to the square foot.

It is a coincidence that Scotland should be identified with such magnificent misfortunes. The Glasgow Bank failure was in the financial world a catastrophe as great as the Tay Bridge is in the world of every day life. The following account of the steamer and the divers has a melancholy interest, and may serve to close this truly sad chapter:—

"A powerful steamer was got under weigh shortly before eleven o'clock, and proceeded out into the Forth. The current, however, was so strong, and the force of the south-westerly wind so great that it was not until they were close to the wrecked bridge that those on board the steamer were able to see what really had occurred. Then it became painfully evident that the whole centre of the bridge had disappeared, the line of foam between the piers marking where the wreckage lay, and where probably many of the unfortunate passengers were lying. The gap viewed from the deck of the steamer could scarcely be realised, as it extended for fully half a mile, and was composed of the eleven great spans, each of 245 ft. in length, and one span, evidently on the north, of 145ft. Something was seen to stand up from the brickwork of the first and third piers on the south, but nothing at all remained, and it was fondly hoped by some that what was observed on the two above-mentioned piers might be some of the passengers, who had somehow or other succeeded in freeing themselves from the ruin, and got upon the basement of the piers, and ears were strained to catch any call, but none was heard. The water was observed to break over something extending from the first to the third piers on the south side, and it was generally thought that it was at this point where the train had fallen. The wind was still blowing fiercely, lashing the waves into foam, and sending the spray on to the deck of the steamer, but, to make sure that no one was still clinging to the bridge, it was decided to launch the lifeboat and examine the base of each pier. A few minutes sufficed to lower the boat into the water, and a crew, consisting of Captain Edwards, of the Tay Ferries, in command, David Eadie, seaman, James Smith, seaman, and Andrew Scott, rigger, with Captain Robertson, harbour-master, at the rudder, was promptly organised. The boat left the steamer at five minutes past eleven o'clock, and proceeded to the north end of the gap, crossing to the west or windward side of the bridge. The crew then rowed along the west side of the piers, keeping to within a few feet of them, and then returned to the steamer at 11.35, having been absent exactly half an hour, but without result. It was almost too much to suppose that human beings cooped up in railway carriages, and falling suddenly just 100ft. into a storm-lashed sea, would have the slightest chance of escape.

"The party had to bring the steamer back to shore, where on the melancholy news being made fully known a scene of the wildest and most painful agitation ensued. Those who had relatives in the train gave way to outbursts and paroxysms of grief.

"Shortly before two o'clock this afternoon a steamer with the divers on board returned to Dundee, their further operations having been suspended by the tide. The bottom of the river, underneath one of the large girders, was explored by the divers, but no trace of the railway carriages was seen. The operations will be resumed if the weather is favourable.

"Only one body has yet been found—that of a woman about sixty years of age. She has not been identified. A parcel has also been picked up containing specimens of cloth, the samples being sewn on cards bearing the name of Mr Kingsbury, silk mercer, Fulham-road, London."

SOUTHWARD, HO!

The National Government is allowing no grass to grow under its feet in the matter of colonization: and if Congress could be prevailed on to be a little more liberal in investing money certain to be re-paid a thousand fold to the country, a still greater impetus would be given to the flow of European emigration to these countries.

A few days ago we had the pleasure of applauding a decree of the National Government respecting a colony on the 'ejido' lands of the city of Parana, and that which we now publish is another step in an equally important direction. The very favourable terms which are offered to settlers at the proposed colony of Santa Cruz should attract the attention of emigrants from Northern Europe, as the climate at the new colony is pretty much the same. Many of the families threatened with starvation, if not actually experiencing it, at the present moment in the West of Ireland would be, at least ought to be, glad to jump at the terms which are offered to settlers at Santa Cruz, and we call the attention of all to the following decree:—

Department of Interior, B. Ayres,
Jan. 11th, 1880.

Congress having manifested in several ways its approval as to the colonization of the territory of Santa Cruz, and voted this year a certain sum for that purpose; and considering that the climate and soil are as yet more suitable for pasturage than agriculture, and that a settlement may be founded on special bases which will suit both private interests and the objects of the National Government; and it being indispensable to watch over the important interests of the nation in that quarter,

The President of the Republic decrees:—

Art. 1 Let a pastoral colony be founded in Santa Cruz territory at a point to be chosen, to consist of, for the present, 30 families of not less than 3 persons each.

Art. 2 These families to be settled on a league of land to be given to them gratis for ever, they being obliged to have it surveyed under the direction of the Commissary of the colony, and submit said survey for Government approval.

Art. 3 Each family will receive 500 sheep, a milch cow, two mares, and a wooden house with zinc roof.

Art. 4 Each family on occupying its house will receive a provisional title setting forth its right to the land it occupies, and the definite titles will be given when the formalities expressed in Art 2 (the survey) are complied with and the settlers definitely established.

Art. 5 The Commissary and Sub-Delegate of the Colony will assign to each family the land it is to occupy, so that there will be no confusion as to boundaries when the surveys are made: care being taken that the families be placed as close to each other as possible.

Art. 6. The Commissary will keep an account of all the articles supplied to the colony, and to the settlers individually, and see that they spend the money advanced to them in a manner that will not imperil its ultimate repayment.

Art. 7. The colonists are bound to return, in yearly lots of not less than 50, to commence from the second year, the sheep given to them, and at the end of the fifth year to pay for the animals, implements &c. they may have received.

Art 8. At the commencement of the fourth year each family must have built an additional room to the house they received, and also have laid out a 'chacra' (farm) or 'quinta' (plantation) of four square squares for the cultivation of cereals, trees, &c.

Art 9. The Govnt. will in due course decide on the premium to be awarded to those settlers who may have not less than 1000 trees of at least three metres in height.

Art. 10—Should any colonist wish to cancel his contract with Government before he has fully carried it out, he will lose his right of proprietorship in the land, but not any profits he may have made while occupying it.

Art. 11—Citizen Ignatius J. Peralta Martinez is hereby named Commissary of the Colony, at the salary which the law assigns.

Art. 12—The duties of the Commissary and other officials will be laid down in subsequent decrees.

Art. 13—The Immigration Department will carry out the provisions of this present decree, and will instruct the Commissary in his duties, so that he may assume his post without delay.

Art. 14—Let this be communicated, &c.

The Guadiana's Mails.

London, 30th Dec.

The R.M.S. Guadiana has brought the following passengers:—

Mr and Mrs Alex Auchterlonie, Mr Ed. Goodacre, Mr Thos Cussack, Mr Ant. Alonzo, Mrs Amalia Pineiro, three second, and 55 third class.

The Distress in Ireland.—Our Cork Correspondent telegraphed last night:—"It appears the Constabulary in this district have been busy during the past week or two in collecting statistics for the Government as to the condition of the country. They have visited every holding, and taken a detailed account of the crops and live stock precisely similar to the returns annually furnished to the Registrar-General in June. Some farmers, not comprehending the cause of the inquiry, have been reluctant to give the information. In every district a return had also to be made of the landlords, their acreage, and the names and addresses of the agents." Down to last evening the Lord Mayor's Fund at the Mansion-house, London, amounted to £2,300. Among recent sums received have been the following—viz., the Right Hon. W. E. Forster, M.P., £50; Mr Walter, M.P., £25; Lord Edmond Fitzmaurice, M.P., £10; General Maxwell, C.B., £10; the Hon. E. Stanhope, M.P., £10; Sir A. D. Hayter, M.P., £10 10s.; Lady Dashwood, £25; Mr T. Johnson, £20; the Earl of Chichester, £10; Lord Barrington, M.P. £15; Colonel Makins, M.P., £10; Sir William Codrington, £25; Miss Nesbitt, £20; Mrs E. N. Buxton, £20; and Mr J. Minet, £20. Subscriptions may be paid daily at the Secretary's office at the Mansion-house, or to the Bank of England and Messrs Coutts and Co.

Calcutta, Dec. 28.

General Roberts reports having effected a junction with General Gough. Telegraphing on the 24th, he announces that a general attack had been made by the enemy on all sides, which was met by a counter-attack on the enemy's flank. The Afghans were dislodged and retired with heavy loss to Cabul, whence they fled to their homes. General Roberts intended to re-occupy the Bala Hissa heights and the city of Cabul on the 25th inst.

The troops have been greatly gratified by the Queen's message.

At Lyons, at 2 a.m. on Friday, there were some slight shocks of an earthquake and the cold there has been very intense, the thermometer yesterday showing 20 deg. Fahrenheit of frost. In Paris the comparative mildness of Christmas-day was succeeded by 20 deg. of frost on Friday night; but this morning a south-easterly breeze springing up the barometer, which had for a month been nearly stationary, shows rain with a decided thaw. Assuming that the frost is now at an end, it has lasted 32 days, the lowest reading being on the 9th of December—viz, 40 deg. Fahrenheit below freezing-point. Compared with the severest winters on record since the invention of the thermometer, the late frost has been considerably surpassed in duration, but never in intensity. Thus in the winter of 1788 the frost lasted 80 days, the lowest reading being 36 deg. below freezing point; 1794, 64 days, 39 deg.; 1829 76 days, 29 deg.; 1837, 77 days, 32 deg.; 1871, 59 days, 35 deg. It seems that while eastern and southern Switzerland generally shared in the visitation, some points of that country have escaped.

TAY BRIDGE CALAMITY.

EYE WITNESS ACCOUNT.

The following narrative is furnished by an eye-witness of the calamity:—

"Enjoying the cosy comforts of my own parlour fireside on Sunday night, I listened to the fierce clamour of the storm without, and felt a deep sense of gratitude for the security I possessed, mingled with a feeling of compassion for the poor sailors on the sea battling with the storm. The children had gathered round me for their usual Bible stories, and with an instinctive sense of fear they nestled close to my side, as they heard the wild efforts of the blast to batter in the casement of the window. I chose the story of St. Paul's shipwreck on the Island of Melitia, thinking that the storm without might help me to impress upon their young minds the terrible nature of the dangers to which the Apostle was exposed as the ship lay riding helplessly upon the waves with four anchors between it and certain destruction. While thus engaged a blast of wind more furious than before had caught the chimney tops of a house almost opposite my parlour windows, and brought them down to the ground with a thundering crash that startled every one of us to our feet. Stepping over to the casement I gazed out upon the street, and just then a blaze of moonlight lighted up the broad expanse of the Tay down below, and the long white sinuous line of the Tay Bridge came into view. I looked at my watch, and saw it was exactly seven o'clock. 'The Edinburgh train will be due immediately,' I exclaimed to my wife; 'come and let us watch to see if it will attempt to cross on such a night.' So saying we turned down the gas in the parlour, and prepared to await the appearance of the train. The light by this time had become most fitful. Great masses of clouds were sweeping across the expanse of the heavens, at times totally obscuring the light of the full moon. 'There she comes,' cried one of the children, and, at that moment, the slowly moving lights of the Edinburgh train could be distinctly seen rounding the curve at Wormit, and, passing the signal-box at the south side, entering upon the long straight line of that portion of the bridge. The train once on the bridge seemed to move along with greater swiftness and, when the engine entered the tunnel-like cloisters of the great girders, my little girl exactly described the effect of the light as seen through the lattice work, when she exclaimed, 'Look, papa, isn't that like lightning?' All this takes some time to write down, but to the eye it seemed as if almost simultaneous with the entrance of the train upon the bridge. A comet-like burst of fiery sparks sprang out as if forcibly ejected into the darkness from the engine. In a long visible trail the streak of fire was seen till quenched in the water below. Then there was absolute darkness on the bridge. A silence fell upon our eager group at the window. Then, with stunning force, the idea broke upon my mind. 'Heavens!' I cried, 'I fear the train is over the bridge!' With a growing horror I watched the curve at the north side to try if I could see the train pass that point; but, as several minutes passed and no moving object broke the continuity of the bridge at that point, I snatched up my hat and hurried down and across the Magdalen Green, to meet several individuals all bent upon the same errand as myself.

"The terrific nature of the gale at this time may be inferred from the fact that, descending the slope of the green, I had to crouch down upon the grass to prevent my being blown bodily away. It seemed as if the wind had become a solid compelling power. One gentleman was blown against another on the green, and both tumbled together. The massive signal-post beside the signal-box on the north end of the bridge was bent by the wind like a willow wand, and on entering upon the esplanade, the sand pebbles were dashing about with such force that the hands and face were positively sore with the violence of the impact. My hands held behind my back for a minute, were completely filled with the drifting sand and pebbles.

"Looking towards the river, nothing clearly could be made out. The water from the broken Newport water-pipe on the bridge was pouring into the river, and, being caught in its descent by the wind, was lashed into a misty spray that helped to veil the gap that had by this time been made in the iron highway.

"A number of gentlemen having now collected below the bridge on the Esplanade, one of them climbed up into the signal-box above, and there learned from the man stationed less than a mile from the scene of the great catastrophe that he knew nothing more of what had happened than that the train signalled to him as having entered upon the bridge fully fifteen minutes before had never reached his station, and that all telegraphic communication with the other side had ceased. What had in reality happened the public know now as well as they will ever be likely to know. An entire train with its living freight had been swept into the bosom of the Tay. The rest was left to the imagination. In the clear sunlight of this morning I have again visited the spot, but so calmly was the river then rolling onwards towards the sea that, save for the incontestable evidence of the great gap in mid-river, it was difficult to think that the significant scene of last night was other than a horrid nightmare."

MONTEVIDEO.

(Our own Correspondent.)

Montevideo, Jan. 26th, 1880.

I have no particular news to report. Not even a revolution, nor even an attempt at revolt has been made this week. We were so much accustomed to excitement of this nature in former times that we can hardly credit that nearly five years have passed without rows of any kind—singular enough—and, in my very humble opinion, the President well deserves to pass a few months in retirement, to look after his health, public men requiring, as well as simple mortals, a little rest from the daily toils of life. Talking about this puts me in mind that Colonel Latorre keeps quiet, enjoying his country residence, and does not seem over-anxious about travelling just now, and perhaps it is owing to the hot season we are passing, he being young and easily kept warm, without scampering, as he likes to do, over the country in a broiling hot sun. We shall see what March can do in the way of inducing him to give the country a look round and see what can be done for it, and well may he do so, as it begins to look like the old times in the way of butchering and robbing since our worthy Departamental Judges and City Criminal Judges have got control of the State Prisons, and the Adoquines are no longer the order of the day. Thus much, and no more, or at least not much more, have we benefited by the re-establishment of Constitutional Regime.

Several outrages and crimes have been committed lately. But one of the most glaring is the instance of the one practised in Salto some six months ago on a poor labourer working in the estancia of a Mr. Claverie, who boasts of the title of Justice of the Peace. He coolly seduced and carried away a girl of 15 years, and tried to do the same with a younger sister of 13, abetting, in the latter case, the villainy of his own clerk; the father, resisting, was turned out from the chacra he was working on halves with the said Claverie, had everything taken away from him, and, after trying for six months to get justice done, the father was obliged to come to this city for redress, the Juez Departamental refusing to take the matter up, and pretending, as it seems, to send the affair to his colleague in Paysandu. To that town, however, the 'causa' never reached, and the poor victim of the brutality and outrage was being sent from one place to another and being made a fool of in order to tire him. Such is the pretended justice done outside by the justices appointed to regulate the 'campaña.' Several other outrages are complained of against commissaries of police in several country districts, and, as far as the Government has it in its power to do what is right, everything has been done to inquire into the matter, but they manage outside so as to throw dust on the proceedings, and the outraged citizens and others get no redress in many instances. I am afraid that under the constitutional system things do not get along so well as in former times. Criminals had such a horror against being warded into town to make 'adoquines' that the bare mention of the word was enough to put down any row outside. In the case of the Salto outrage the High Court of Justice has just issued severe instructions to inquire into the matter. We shall see what the end will be, but I feel convinced that they will try and hush the matter up, the parties concerned in the outrage being very influential in Salto. Another outrage has been committed by Commissary Spat, of the 6th Section, in the same department, against a man by the name of Rodriguez. The Government has in this case sent a special commissioner to enquire into the matter.

We had another bull fight yesterday, but I find that when there is no Spanish bull no enthusiasm is got up, and, consequently, only a few hundred amateurs went to the interesting scene, and the tram companies, including Mr Salmon's, made no booty.

We are now fast approaching the Carnival feasts, and all due preparations are being made to decorate the main streets. No water, eggshells, paper bags full of water etc. are to be made use of: only 'pomitos' are to be allowed, and many millions are exhibited in the shops for sale, containing scented waters. Masquerading, of course, is to be allowed, and the customary 'Corso' is to take place. A very interesting Charrua Indian, Masquarado, is to come out, imitating the warlike Indians of this country in time of the conquest. This is to be strictly private, and performed by distinguished persons, to visit private families.

We have had a few days of very hot temperature, but we are always relieved in the evening by a joyful sea breeze, which takes away all the inconvenience of a summer's day.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The newspapers received by the Royal Mail steamer Guadiana are to 30th ult. The fearful Tay disaster was, of course, the great topic. Not much general news. Our prediction as to Sir Garnet Wolseley, made when he was sent to Zululand, is to be fulfilled. Our distinguished countryman is to have a peerage, and will probably also be made Commander-in-Chief in India, the second greatest prize in the British Army. The paper from which we take this news says that no campaign on record has ever been carried out with such fidelity to the plan laid down as this one in Zululand; even the date of the capture of Soaky Oaky's or Mocky Totty's (or whatever his name is) Mountain was laid down by Sir Garnet in his original plan. He'll be a Duke yet, like his great predecessor, Wellington. The news in the papers from Cabul, up to 29th December, bears out to the letter our telegrams of that date, which were, as a matter of course, challenged at the time; but again our news proves to be strictly correct. Lyons was shaken up by an earthquake last month.

A rumour comes from Montevideo that the next financial move down there is to be an 'arrangement' of the Floating Debt of Banda Oriental,

The great news of the day yesterday was the long interview between Dr. Zorrilla, Minister of the Interior, and Governor Tejedor. White and Black Hats were all in a fever. They say the whole thing will end in an electioneering embrace, and all the Tyros Nacionales will retire on a pension. 'Viva!'

The news about the increase of yellow fever in Rio does not appear to cause much concern. The Prensa makes sweeping charges against the Board of Health, which illustrious body, our colleague says, is in a state of compressed confusion hardly to be believed. For two days past no visits were made to vessels in quarantine, as no steamer could be had to take the doctors to the Roads.

An old and decrepit Italian named Bossi was burned alive on Sunday night in a hovel in which he lived alone in Calle Moreno. When the neighbours broke open the door his body was found in cinders on the floor, and the little furniture in the place also consumed.

Mr. William Perkins left town yesterday morning on his return to Rosario. 'A bientot.'

The gunboat Parana sailed on Sunday for the Patagonian coast, to look after the guano ships in that quarter.

The report that General Osborne, United States Minister, had a visit on Sunday night from some leading members of the Corps Burglarique is not true, we are happy to say.

One of our colleagues says that a gas crisis is threatened at Flores. Who cares about gas these lovely moonlight nights?

We read yesterday with considerable pleasure a very vigorous article in the Courrier on the new Constitution of Buenos Ayres. Our French colleague says what we have said at least one hundred times, viz., that this same new Constitution is a costly error, and the sooner it is got rid of the better. Everything connected with provincial affairs, says the Courrier, is turned topsy-turvey. The new Constitution gives the Chambers the power to name the Jueces de Paz, and 'voila' the Supreme Court deciding that the Governor still holds that power. Poor Gov. Tejedor has had a narrow escape from drowning in the troubled waters of this new Constitution, and it can hardly be matter for wonder that he has pitched it overboard rather than go overboard himself. It's miserably delicate this new Constitution; the old one was far more robust, and Buenos Ayres got on very well under it.

There was a deeply affecting scene on the Mole on Monday, when a good-looking Spanish woman with a child in her arms went about in a half-distracted state, weeping bitterly and bewailing the departure of her scamp of a husband for Spain, the mean villain taking all her clothes and ornaments, and leaving her without a dollar or anymeans of support. The rough company about the beach appeared to sympathise greatly with the poor woman. If the fellow is drowned on the voyage home it will be only what he deserves.

The Montevidean papers speak in high terms of a new wind-mill at work at Duranas Bridge, and for which Messrs Castilla and Co. have applied for a patent. It cleans the wheat, grinds it to flour and performs sundry other offices which can only be appreciated by farmers and jolly millers. Full particulars can be had at No 193 Calle Reconquista Montevideo.

Another cornice of a house fell in Calle Uruguay on Saturday with a terrific crash. Some undertaker lost a job by about one yard, an individual having passed the house about that distance when the avalanche fell behind him. The Life Insurance Companies will soon have to provide against a new risk in all policies issued in B. Ayres.

The pickpockets of the city now, use a thin wire with a fish-hook at the end to extract pockethandkerchiefs from the pockets of the public. A thief was caught on Sunday in Calle Piedad while in the act of landing a beautiful cambric 'mouchoir' from the pocket of an elderly gentleman who was standing on the side walk with his mouth open and his eyes shut.

Another monument is to be erected in Belgrano to the General of the same name. The Committee have asked Mr Arenales to collect subscriptions in the Interior for the purpose.

Her Majesty the Queen has been graciously pleased to intimate, through Lieutenant-General Ponsonby, her approval and acceptance, with thanks, of a copy of Mr Streeter's new work on 'Precious Stones and Gems."—Morning Post.

A party named Larrone (mistake for Ladrone we take it) was invited to the Gallo Hotel on Sunday for heartlessly stealing a bundle of clean shirts from a friend who had just asked him to dinner. It is worse than a petty crime, it is a great mistake, to treat a man who gives dinners so badly. An experienced diner-out would never be guilty of it.

The advices from Cordoba are decidedly better. Heavy rain has fallen all over the province, and wheat, maize, cows, sheep and horses have all raised their drooping heads. An increased traffic is going on all along the Central Argentine and North Central lines.

The King of Italy has decorated M. Vaillant, the eminent Montevidean statistician. This is really honour where honour is due, and we feel much pleasure in offering M Vaillant our congratulations.

Our 'spirituel' colleague the 'cronista' of the Courrier had a deal of witty (and true) things to say about the fair sex yesterday. He says that the ladies of Buenos Ayres have become most economical and now wear dresses which only cost six paper dollars a yard, but which look as well, or better, than the outrageously costly materials of other days. The way of rearing children has also improved, the English system of bare legs and arms being more in vogue. The writer pays a high compliment to English mothers who, he says, surpass all others in the world in the way in which they bring up their children. Argentine mothers ruin their children with too much petting and indulgence, and over confinement. All the ladies of Buenos Aires are getting enormously fat through riding in the tramways instead of taking a 'voiture de place' as in former days; a good shaking over the uneven pavements in a hackney coach keeps down 'embonpoint.' But, if the fair ones of Buenos Ayres are all getting very fat, our Gallic colleague (horrid man!) declares that they are also getting very ugly, thanks to their mania for painting their faces with 'poudre de riz' and then using cold cream. This process puckers up the face and makes it look like a piece of old crape (oh! the wretch); and if all the pretty women of Buenos Ayres (the ugly ones may paint away) knew their own interests and the utter disgust which men experience at the sight of a handsome face so spoiled, they would pitch their puffs and powder pots out of the window. At the risk of being stigmatised as a still greater 'wretch' than our French 'confrere,' we humbly beg to second all he has said, especially in reference to the puffs and powder pots.

Maestro Rajneri will take his benefit on Friday evening at the Florida Gardens. The programme is grand.

THANKS

I beg most gratefully to acknowledge the sum of 800$ m|c. generously forwarded to me from the camp, by four sympathisers, under the initials of A. B. The Bolsa meeting, as is usual, interrupted business. After 3 o'clock gold opened at 31.70, went up to 31.75, and closed at opening rate. The sales for the end of the month were large, and it is evident that already the brokers are closing in their transactions for the months' liquidation.

Cedulas rule firm, and are dearer cash than for the end of the month. National Bank Shares were done at 69⅜, and for February at 69⅜. The balance-sheet of the National Bank at the close of last year, which shows the real state of the Bank, will be found lower down.

The first telegram on 'Change to-day was the arrival of Lavarello's steamer from Genoa, the South America; we suppose crowded with immigrants.

The Bolsa meeting held to-day was particularly desultory. Mr Mattos, the spokesman of the board, could not be heard, and but for the vigorous elocution of Mr L Billinghurst, very many who were compelled to sit down whilst the proceedings were going on, would not have understood the object of the meeting. After much misunderstanding it was at last decided to postpone the new Reglamento for 15 days. Then followed a rather tedious reading over of the various properties offered, which to many seemed the more unnecessary since the funds for a new Bolsa are not available. Dr Luro proposed something about the new Reglamento in connection with the Centro de Comercio, which led to sharp rejoinder from Mr Benjamin Garcia and others, who could not see what that concern had to do with the Bolsa de Comercio. The noise and hum going on in the hall, coupled with the rather weak voices of the speakers, rendered most of the proceedings sufficiently unintelligible, and most of the assembled members rose from their seats when the peones entered with the glass case voting boxes. Don Emilio Fernandez, the chairman, discharged the rather arduous duties of presiding over a Bolsa meeting with his accustomed ability. Merchants however complained, greatly of the interruption caused by holding the meeting in the Hall. The subscription to the Bolsa has been re-established at 50 m|c per month, leaving 10 m|c per month for new Bolsa Fund, and the following list was carried—

Comerciantes—
Antonio Devoto
Francisco Pommes
Corredores—
Leoncio Bouche
Juan Zimmermann
Comision Interior—
Julio Arrue
Benjamin Garcia
Federico Jacobs
Aquiles Perelli.

It was announced on 'Change that telegrams had come from New York, giving a sharp fall in dry hides.

Gold ruled hard at 31.7o, and there was much said on 'Change about politics; still it was known that yesterday Minister Zorrilla had an interview with Governor Tejedor, which, it is hoped, may further conciliation.

It was reported on 'Change to-day that telegrams have arrived announcing two hundred thousand pounds gold on the way out to the Italian Bank. We certainly never recollect a season when more gold came out to the Plate. The Guadiana has brought out £25,000 in sovereigns to the Liebig Fabric, Fray Bentos.

The Provincial Bank took to-day 700,000 francs at 4,14 and 4.15 on Antwerp & France, bills offered at 49⅜ and ½, but no takers.

Circulars and letters were received to-day from the United States by the American mail which has arrived; we hold them for to-morrow.

Respecting the Irish Relief Fund we have received two letters which stand for to-morrow, also an important letter from Bristol.

At the Boca to-day the tide ran out, causing much inconvenience. The Buenos Ayrean could not get away, as the hay for the sheep on board could not get out of the Boca.

At 5 o'clock the political news current was important, another meeting between Sr Zorrilla and Tejedor, and a meeting this morning between Minister Pellegrini and Colonel Garmendia; the upshot of all this is a general disarmament, the troops to be withdrawn, and a third candidate for the Presidency proposed.

The Guadiana's mails were delivered early to-day; the Times of 30th publishes the most graphic accounts of the Dundee train disaster, but all that is published and all that is written does not throw the least new light upon the matter. The Dundee train reminds us of the ill starred s.s. President, of which after a lapse of 40 years nothing was ever known.

The Bolsa report was given round to-day. Owing to the reduction of the subscription the receipts for the last quarter only amount to $78,000 m|c. The Bolsa counts 1,590 socios, including 390 brokers. In the year 1878 there were 400 brokers; the board proposes a dividend of 11 per cent. The reserve fund amounts to 581,191 m|c, of which 100,943 m|c. in money and 435,581 m|c in 243 shares. The receipts for the year amount to $765,100 m|c, less 37,500 m|c placed to the reserve fund. The expenses of the year for salaries, soap, towels, &c. amounted to 451,427 m|c, and the expenses charged to the building fund are 91,083. The dividend of 11 per cent on 1,380 shares amounts to 151,800 m|c. and deposited at interest in the Bank $5,552 m|c. The reserve funds stand so:—

The news from Rio Janeyro about yellow fever is most unfavorable, and many people are now afraid to go down to Montevideo for fear of quarantine being put on here on that port.

Este campo formo parte anteriormente del establecimiento La Figura, y en su totalidad esta cubierto de puro pasto tierno.

El arrendamiento que tiene lo produce del modo siguiente: $12,000 m/c por puesto de 150 cuadras que viene a ser 60,000 pesos al año (adelantados) sin contrata, previniendose que los arrendatarios actuales haran contrata por el mismo precio.

El campo lindero a este perteneciente a Don Pedro Arrieta, se ha vendido hace pocos meses a razon de 1000 pesos la cuadra, por cuya razon llamamos la atencion de todos, pues esto se puede tomar para esplotarlo, o para arrendarlo y entonces teniendolo arrendado el campo produce mas del 1 o/o de interes, puesto que se paga adelantado.
